Iowa Transportation Museum – Grinnell, Iowa

Brownfield site re-development (Spalding Automobile Factory) and rehabilitation of existing factory buildings providing education, office and museum space for the Iowa Department of Transportation (IDOT).

Iowa State University Morrill Hall Restoration – Ames, Iowa

Historic restoration of 19th century academic building to become University Museum, Center for Visual Learning / Textile & Clothing and Center for Teaching Excellence.

Iowa Association of Municipal Utilities – Ankeny, Iowa

Project Design and Manager: Conceptual Design through Construction. Building is designed as an office and training facility. Because of building design, it uses 45% of the energy of a typical code compliant office building. Environmental building materials were investigated and used in the project.

Yellow Banks Outdoor Discovery Center
Polk County Conservation Board – Des Moines, Iowa

Project Designer and Manager: Building is designed to demonstrate energy conservation and environmental sensitivity, to teach outdoor skills, and to provide a setting for education and instruction. The building site is an ancient Native American settlement, and the building design is derived from the ancient forms and medicine wheels indigenous to the ancient inhabitants of the Plains.
