

PROFILE

Iowa State University is a resource of endless opportunities that fuels my desire for a life that advances my creative limits daily. In 2011, I graduated with honors and distinction cum laude with a Bachelors of Architecture degree, a Secondary Major in Environmental Studies and a minor in Design Studies focused in Photography, Ceramics and Woodworking. As a Gilman International Scholar I studied Urban Development in Europe and as a Udall Honorable Mention Scholar I designed a Native American Community Center using 90% reclaimed materials. In 2009, Iowa State University inducted me into their prestigious Cardinal Key Honorary Society for outstanding leadership. That summer I secured an honors research grant and studied the expanding consumer class in China while working full time as an Architectural Intern at the firm CO+E Architects and Designers in Beijing, China. At graduation I was awarded the Alpha Rho Chi National Professional Fraternity for Architecture and the Allied Arts 2011 Bronze Medal for my leadership, service, and professional merit. I then traveled and worked for Habitat for Humanity and Angelo Architectural Associates for a few years before returning to Iowa State University for my Masters of Science in Architecture degree in 2016 to open the door to collegiate teaching. My desire is to continue my educational journey by professionally collaborating with others. With action, inquiry, and a creative open mind, I will work to save and create things and places of value for future generations.
